I was introduced to Unity by a friend in my hometown of Indianapolis, IN in late 1990s. Finding New Thought teachings came at a crisis point and when I felt abandoned by the church I grew up with. The Unity principle of Divine Order manifested through the years as I met many persons who encouraged and supported New Thought and Unity teachings. I also studied Jungian psychology since Carl Jung thought that spiritual experience was essential to our well-being.

When I met Scott, I introduced him to Unity. A Unity minister officiated our wedding. We moved quite a bit and lived in different states due to Scott's work. We participated and formed friendships in each of the local Unity churches. We were fortunate to experience several Unity communities.

My work experiences are as a technical writer and trainer. As a photographer, I enjoy using my photographs in creative outlets, such as greeting cards, prints and calendars. I also like to write poetry.
